Course Description
This course surveys United States history from the Chicano perspective and covers historical periods from the initial contact between European and indigenous North American societies through colonial, early national, and contemporary American historical periods. Emphasis is placed on this group’s contributions to the development of the United States. Factors that have shaped the formation of Mexican American society within the context of United States history will also be analyzed.

This is an academic history course with considerable data from comparative viewpoints, keeping up with the lecture and with the textbook readings will be essential to student success. It would be best for students to read the material before class lecture, since lecture will not repeat most of the information found in any assigned readings. If students are having difficulty with course readings ask instructor for further assistance. Come to class prepared to take notes, ask relevant questions from the required and recommended readings and be prepared to follow the analogies offered by the instructor.

Student Learning Outcomes: Upon completion of History of the Chicano in the United States, students will be able to develop and persuasively argue a historical thesis in a written assignment that identifies and explains major social, economic, political and/or cultural historical themes or patterns in Chicano history and apply appropriate historical methods to analyze and use primary and/or secondary sources as evidence to support the thesis.
