

Spring Pre-College Composition Consistency Project Workshop
Making It Work: In-class Tutors, A, B, 50 RWA
January 15, 2015

- The workshop kicked off with lunch.
- During Lunch Debra Breckheimer presented her summary and analysis of three surveys: Student, Tutor and Faculty. This analysis created goals for improvement in the existing tutor program.
- The goals for improvement were discussed.
- Two tutor, Sean Patrick and Terry Wright, discussed their perspective on the program and where there was room for improvement.
- Barbra Budrovich, the director of the Writing Center, presented lab logistics and offered groups to work on a list for suggested future changes.
- Debra Breckheimer presented how she organized her labs, explained and modeled how to pace labs and assignments, and how to work with tutors throughout the semester. She provided a packet of examples and explanations.
- Jen Annick presented her methods and materials.
- Scott Kushigemachi presented his methods.
- A great deal of discussion occurred after each presentation.
- The last 45 minutes of the sessions was devoted to a meet and greet between tutors and the teachers they will be working with during the spring. Materials were exchanged.
