

- News
- Fashion
- Trade Shows
- Classifieds
- Links
- Archives
- Subscribe
- Bookstore
- Events
- Media Kit
- About Us

SEARCH this site:

Enter Search Keywords:

Go!

Subscribe and get the full hardcopy edition of California Apparel News with more stories and expanded content...

Sign up for free weekly apparelnewsletter updates...

Enter your eMail address:

Sign up

Sy Pollard

Updated elegance

The Scene:

Those in search of a quick fashion fix weren't disappointed after seeing the works of El Camino College's student designers...

Also showing their designs were high school fashion students selected for the "Shining Stars" scholarship...

Student presented a wide range of styles on the runway, including designs that veered toward vintage looks...

Some designers featured styles inspired by costumes and cross-cultural references, but most produced wearable looks...

Student designs that received awards included: Irma Ruiz-Venegas' tailored charcoal-blue blazer for best workmanship...

Who: El Camino College

What: Fashion Addict, 21st annual Spring student fashion show

When: June 5

Where: El Camino College's Campus Theater, Torrance, Calif.

photos: GABRIEL KONETA

Mimi Lacy

style, and Nicole Beltzar's black evening gown with hot-pink slotted princess seams for creativity. The last presentation was the Julie Collett Best of Show Award, which was given to Danielle Kroehne for her charcoal-gray Mariano Fortuny-like, pleated empire evening dress.

—Mark Pagaduan

Vandana Remedias

Nicole Beltzar

now open...

our Fall Runway Gallery featuring coverage of the 60 shows during March's L.A. Fashion Week

Additional news, photos and fashion coverage is published in the current printed edition of California Apparel News...

in The National Register every a

News | Fashion | Trade Shows | Classifieds | Links | Archives
Subscribe | Bookstore | Events | Media Kit | About Us