El Camino College Volleyball Player Named Athlete of the Month

El Camino College volleyball standout Samantha Taylor was recently named Student Athlete of the Month for December by the California Community Colleges Athletic Association (CCCAA).

Taylor, a freshman setter on the El Camino College women's volleyball team, helped the Warriors capture the college's first state championship in the sport since 1983. Taylor averaged 12 assists, 2.9 digs and 1 block per game, leading her to the CCCAA Championship MVP. Taylor's steady play under great pressure culminated with a thrilling one-game playoff victory over Golden West College to seal the championship.

Before the Warriors made it to the state tournament, Taylor was an All-South Coast Conference First Team selection as El Camino College went undefeated in winning the conference title. Taylor was an All-Los Angeles City Player of the Year at San Pedro High School before coming to El Camino College.
