El Camino College to Offer Free Summer Science/Math Program For High School Students

El Camino College will offer a free math and science program for high school students this summer. The STEM Young Scholars Program aims to inspire interest in Science, Technology, Engineering & Math (STEM) and is open to high school students interested in learning about careers in STEM-related fields.

The free program includes guest speakers, college and career workshops, group activities, field trips to local industries, and university visits. The program will be held in the MESA Center from July 6 to 29 on Tuesdays and Thursdays, with field trips on selected Fridays.

Students who finish the four-week program will be awarded a certificate of completion. Space is limited and participation in the program will be on a first-come, first-served basis. For more information, contact Zenia Bobadilla at 310-660-3593, ext. 3887 or via e-mail at zbobadilla@elcamino.edu.
