El Camino College Academic Honor Society Presents Scholarships and Awards

El Camino College honor student XiaoQin Li recently won an $850 scholarship from Alpha Gamma Sigma (AGS) at the academic honor society and service organization's annual convention.

At the event attended by 44 college chapters, $38,400 in scholarships was awarded to 54 students who excel in academics and/or community service.

XiaoQin, who serves as publicity chairwoman for the Alpha Phi chapter of AGS at El Camino College, won the Virginia Coffey Award.

Also honored at the conference was ECC AGS adviser Jeannine Barba, who was awarded the Outstanding Adviser Award. Jeannine was nominated by her students and chosen by the Advisory Board Committee of the AGS statewide organization for this award.

Alpha Gamma Sigma is the academic honor society and service organization of the California Community College system. It was founded to help promote, maintain and recognize scholastic achievement and community service among students. Because AGS is also a student club at El Camino College, and one of the largest organizations on campus, it attracts many students of all majors pursuing academic excellence.
