El Camino College Schedules “STEM Night” Event

El Camino College has scheduled a “STEM Night” event for students and professionals to network and meet with representatives from area non-profit organizations that provide STEM (science, technology, engineering and math) programs to the Southern California region and beyond.

Sponsored by Chevron, which has been partnering with El Camino College for more than 10 years, STEM Night is set for 5:30-8:00 p.m. September 25, in the college’s new STEM Center.

The event is also designed to identify collaboration opportunities to better serve the college and the community, recruit mentors for El Camino College Mathematics, Engineering, Science Achievement Program (MESA) and STEM students, and identify potential partners who can offer internship and job-shadowing opportunities to ECC MESA|STEM students.

In addition, El Camino College’s MESA|STEM students and Chevron Scholars will showcase their summer research experiences.

STEM Night is coordinated by Latinas in STEM, the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers (SHPE) and El Camino College MESA|STEM programs.
