El Camino College to sponsor “College Night” Event

ECC opens for an evening to share information with prospective students, community members

El Camino College will sponsor a College Night event to showcase the numerous academic opportunities, support services and educational resources available to students. All prospective students, parents, adult learners, educators, and community members are invited to attend anytime between 5:30 and 8:30 p.m. Nov. 16.

College Night at El Camino College is an open house event on campus featuring a variety of workshops, a resource fair, and twilight campus tours. Participants are encouraged to find out more about financial aid, scholarships, and athletics, in addition to joining a Q&A presented by a student panel.

President Dena P. Maloney will host “Popcorn with the President,” a time to meet with El Camino College’s sixth president and ask questions.

“We hope that students approach their college exploration process in a thoughtful and comprehensive manner,” said President Maloney. “Attending El Camino’s College Night will provide information to assist students in determining how best to begin their college education.”

Information for parents and/or adult learners will also be offered at this event. Afternoon and evening classes can fit into the busy schedules of working adults who want to upgrade their skills or change their career path. Financial aid and other support services are available. ECC offers a great college experience for students of all ages and aspirations – it’s not too late to earn a college degree or certificate!

At just $46 per unit, El Camino College also offers low fees and a convenient South Bay location. Students can apply now – the Winter 2017 term begins January 5 and the first day the Spring 2017 semester begins February 11.

El Camino College is located at 16007 Crenshaw Boulevard, Torrance. Free parking will be available in Lot H off of Redondo Beach Boulevard. Check in on the first floor of the Bookstore building.
