ECC Chorale to Perform Spring Show, “Reunited and it Feels So Good”
Chorale members, past and present, will come together for a 20-year reunion performance

The El Camino College Chorale will reunite for a spring performance scheduled for 8 p.m. June 2 in the Campus Theatre.

The Chorale reunion concert, “Reunited and it Feels So Good,” will celebrate professor Joanna Medawar Nachef’s 20th year as director of choral activities at El Camino College.

The event is directed by Nachef and accompanied by pianist Kenner Bailey. Nachef is an internationally acclaimed choral conductor who has made several Carnegie Hall appearances. She earned a doctorate of musical arts and a master’s degree in choral music from USC, in addition to a bachelor’s degree in piano performance from California State University, Dominguez Hills.

As the college’s premier choral group, the ECC Chorale gives students the opportunity to sing all styles of choral literature. The group performs several concerts on campus and in the community and participates in musical festivals and tours. Since 1997, the El Camino College Chorale has performed in San Francisco, San Jose, New York’s Carnegie Hall, San Diego and a Hawaii concert series on the island of Oahu, among other events.

Tickets are $10 and may be purchased online at centerforthearts.org, or by phone at 1-800-832-ARTS. The Ticket Office is open Monday through Friday 10 a.m.-6 p.m. El Camino College’s Campus Theatre is located at 16007 Crenshaw Boulevard, Torrance. Parking on campus is $3.
