El Camino College Honored by High School Robotics Team

Students at the Chadwick School in Palos Verdes Peninsula recently honored El Camino College and Ed Hofmann for supporting the high school's robotics team by machining parts for their robot.

As a result, Wicked Wobotics Team 2150 decided to designate El Camino College as one of its official sponsors. The name of the team is now: NASA / Northrop Grumman / El Camino College & Chadwick School. The El Camino College logo will be prominently displayed on the robot and on the team banner at the Las Vegas Regional competition on March 29-31.
