El Camino College Presents High School Senior Day 2007

South Bay high school students are invited to get a glimpse at college life during El Camino College's fourth annual "High School Senior Day," set for May 18.

More than 1,000 South Bay high school seniors from more than 20 South Bay high schools are expected to attend. Participation is on a first-come, first-served basis, and interested students should see their high school counselor for more information.

"We welcome our future students to El Camino College, and hope they enjoy learning about what we have to offer," said El Camino College President Thomas M. Fallo.

In addition to finding out more about the various support services available at El Camino College, students will discover various educational opportunities and career paths, from science and business to education and the arts. Workshops about financial aid and transferring to a university are also on the day's agenda.

University partnerships will be the focus of a University Panel moderated by Sue Oda Omori, El Camino College Transfer Center Coordinator. Speakers from the University of California at Berkeley, UCLA, USC, and California State University Long Beach will be on the panel.

During lunch, an interactive fashion show will showcase El Camino College students who chose a non-traditional major, highlighting the many opportunities in high-wage job training offered at the college. The day will wrap up with a career and major fair, allowing students to ask questions about specific professions and student support programs.

Event sponsors include the El Camino College Financial Aid Office, First Year Experience/Learning Communities, EOPS, Outreach and School Relations, and United Student Aid (USA) Funds.

El Camino College is located at 16007 Crenshaw Boulevard, near Torrance. For more information, call 310-660-3487.
