Transfer Requirements

The following requirements for the major are subject to change without notice. To assure that this information is current, you should consult with a Philosophy counselor, or review articulation agreements via the Internet at WWW.ASSIST.ORG. You may also consult the Articulation Officer for specific articulation agreements.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES: Philosophy is concerned with the basic assumptions we make about the world and ourselves. It is the basis for examining one's own feelings, thoughts, perceptions and beliefs. The study of philosophy develops analytic and problem-solving skills. New roles for philosophers involve raising ethical issues and examining environmental and social problems created by modern technology. A major in philosophy is a foundation for college and university teaching, graduate study in such fields as diplomacy, law, library science, social science, and theology. The outlook for career opportunities is not very good but a double major may enhance career opportunities (e.g., logic with mathematics, aesthetics with art or literature, value theory with political science, theories of knowledge with biology or psychology, or ethics with business administration). Philosophers are now finding a new role as consultants to business and industry on ethical issues.
