

THEATRE MAJOR

Transfer Requirements

The following requirements for the major are subject to change without notice. To assure accuracy of the information on this sheet, you should consult with a counselor, the articulation officer, or review articulation agreements via the internet at www.assist.org.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Opportunities for theatre arts graduates are very competitive and often seasonal. Since it is difficult to earn a living as a performer, actors and actresses may have to supplement by teaching or working in some other occupation. Possible growth in opportunities may result from establishment of year-round acting companies in cities, outdoor and regional theatres, repertory companies and dinner theatres.

Television may expand in the direction of Public Broadcasting, UHF, cable TV, and video-cassettes. Industrial shows commercials, summer and winter stock companies in suburban and resort areas, legitimate theatre, professional theatre offer a variety of settings. Graduates are employed as directors, technical directors and scene designers as well as performers. Playwriting, film editing and dramatic criticism provide other options. Managerial training can be used in theatre management. For information on career and job opportunities, see advisor in the Career Center.
