DAY 19 – SATURDAY, 15–JUL–17: MUNICH

Though perhaps best known as the city of beer and oom-pah-pah, Munich (München, pronounced Mewn-shin, in German), is only one part of exuberant city. The other part is rich, cultured and sophisticated, and its architectural legacy includes decorated baroque and rococo churches and palaces of a kind rarely seen in parts of Germany. The kingdom of Bavaria and its capital, created by Napoleon in 1806, lasted until 1918, has a sense of that privileged royal past that still lingers. Think of Munich as the capital of Gemütlichkeit, that not-quite-translatable adjective that means something between cozy and good-natured. Our half-day sightseeing of the city with via motorcoach will focus on the area surrounding the Marienplatz area, with its famous Glockenspiel, and will also include a brief tour of the Alte Pinakothek, comprises more than 700 artworks from the glittering epochs of German, Flemish, Netherlandish, French, Italian and Spanish painting. Following our return to Munich, a self-guided visit will be made to Nymphenburg Palace. This lavish Baroque palace and gardens served as the main summer residence of the former rulers of Bavaria of the House of Wittelsbach.

DAY 22 - TUESDAY, 18-JUL-17: MUNICH

The nineteenth-century Romanesque Revival palace is situated on a rugged hill above the village of Hohenschwangau and was commissioned by Ludwig II of Bavaria as a retreat and as a homage to Richard Wagner. Lunch will be included. En route back to Munich, stops will be made the Munter House in Murnau, the former home of the painter, Kandinsky, and which played a formative role in the history of the Blue Rider; and the Buchheim, often called the Museum of Imagination. A late afternoon arrival is planned back in Munich. To celebrate our last night together, a farewell dinner will be offered at a local restaurant.

Your Instructors:

Sean Donnell is a Professor of English and co-leader of the El Camino College Study Abroad Program in Central Europe. Professor Donnell is excited to be part of this educational program that aims to facilitate our students' exploration of this historic and dynamic region of Europe. He will be offering classes aimed at enhancing their appreciation of Central European culture.

Professor Donnell first became acquainted with Central Europe through his studies in Comparative Literature. An integral part of these studies necessitated an intensive foreign language study, in this case German. During the course of his studies, Sean traveled to Northern Germany in 1990, when he participated in a Study Abroad Program offered through California State University, Long Beach. During the six-week program, he explored famous landmarks and visited historic cities like Cologne, Hamburg, Heidelberg, and Berlin. In fact, Sean was lucky enough to be in Berlin the weekend "Checkpoint Charlie" was removed. Since then, he has fostered an intense desire to return to Central Europe—but this time as an instructor. Sean speaks German and has studied the literature and culture of many Central European countries.

Sean holds a BA in Comparative Literature from California State University, Long Beach and an MA in English Literature, also from CSULB. Joining the ranks of the El Camino College faculty in 1998, Professor Donnell has since taught a variety of Film, Literature, and Composition courses over the past eighteen years. He enjoys reading, writing, and a variety of outdoor activities, most notably saltwater fishing.

Karen Whitney Professor of Art History, has been teaching at El Camino College for thirteen years. She has shared her love of art with students whom she has guided through numerous museums and art sites throughout the western United States. Her quest to experience art and architecture firsthand has led her to Peru, Russia, China, England, Italy, Greece, Mexico, and Thailand.

She is enthusiastic about the opportunity to guide students on this cultural adventure to Central Europe. With a BA in Humanities and an MA in Art History and Curatorial Studies from Brigham Young University, she has been fortunate to make her life's passion her work and enjoys experiencing the intersection of the arts wherever they may be.

As an L.A. native who has also lived on the east coast, Professor Whitney feels at home in cosmopolitan environs and loves to find art in the everyday as well as the world's great museums. She believes Central Europe will be the perfect place to study the fascinating modern movements of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in its cities' monuments, art collections, and innovative architectural design. Among her favorite things to do is to try new foods (particularly those with chocolate), go camping with her family, and practice yoga.
