PROPOSAL DESCRIPTION

In 1985-86, a grant from the Fund enabled ten small community colleges in Northern and Central California to form a Faculty Development Network for Small Rural Colleges. A steering Committee that has been meeting regularly in several discipline areas have been brought together in separate meetings. In addition to providing the ongoing activities, a grant for this 1985-86 proposed project will be utilized to reinstate fall workshops and a spring conference cut from the 1985-86 project by budget reductions, to develop a Network Newsletter, and to provide for the inclusion of part-time instructors in appropriate activities. The ultimate goal of the project remains the promotion of institutional excellence for these small rural colleges through joint faculty development activities initiated and implemented by the faculty themselves.
