PROPOSAL DESCRIPTION

The Academic Senates and Chief Instructional Officers of the California Community Colleges have established a statewide program which will enable faculty, administrators, and classified staff to exchange positions for year, a semester, or even a shorter period, if practical. 'Trading Places' was established in November of 1986 and all 106 of the community colleges were eligible for institutional membership the first year. A membership fee was not imposed this first year, in order to encourage staff participation, and to establish the program as a successful avenue for staff development. As of March 31, 79 colleges have joined the program and a contact person has been named at each of these colleges. Thirty-nine faculty, 19 classified and one administrator have registered for an exchange.

The purpose of this proposal is to continue the activities of Trading Places and to meet the original components of the 1986 start-up grant for one more year after which the program will be supported by membership fees.
