Los Angeles Mission | Seminars for Teachers Who Teach Citizenship |
|---------------------|-----------------------------------------------|

This project, Seminars for Teachers Who Teach Citizenship, will provide a model curriculum which will be distributed during Seminars that will include instructional strategies, methodologies, and a bibliography of available materials. The budget will support the following activities:

1. Review, compile and develop teacher training content curriculum that addresses U.S. History, Civics, Citizenship, and basic English skills as required by the Department of Immigration and Naturalization Service.

2. Convene a select panel of experts composed of faculty, community and civic leaders, educational administrators and elected officials involved with the Naturalization process to advise project staff regarding curriculum content and instructional strategies.

3. Develop and conduct a series of training seminars for teachers who teach citizenship that will concentrate on content and pedagogy for Citizenship preparation.

4. Evaluate effectiveness of content, pedagogy and delivery system of training.

5. Prepare a report on the outcome of the proposed seminars.

6. Disseminate the report to appropriate state and local educational and governmental agencies and the community at large.

This project will be implemented through the collaborative efforts of Los Angeles Mission College, in conjunction with Rancho Santiago College, Long Beach City College and the Community College Educators of New Californians (CCENC) Network. This collaboration will also receive additional expertise and support from the U.S. Citizenship Action Network which includes the Los Angeles Unified School District, Long Beach Citizenship Network, community based citizenship services providers, the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, National Association of Elected and Appointed Latino Officials, INS, and the Educational Testing Service.
