II. OUTCOMES AND OBJECTIVES

A. COURSE STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOMES (The course student learning outcomes are listed below, along with a representative assessment method for each. Student learning outcomes are not subject to review, revision or approval by the College Curriculum Committee)

1. Greek Philosophers: In a written essay, students will analyze how philosophers, from ancient Greece through the modern era, have considered and conceptualized a variety of ideas critical to the discourse of political theory.
2. The State: In a written essay, students will describe and assess the value of a state based on privilege versus one based on equality, and the apparent conflict between liberty and equality in a democratic state.
3. Social Justice: In a written essay, students will describe and analyze the different theories of the "just state," and compare and contrast their ideas on political power and social justice.

The above SLOs were the most recent available SLOs at the time of course review. For the most current SLO statements, visit the El Camino College SLO webpage at <http://www.elcamino.edu/academics/slo/>.

IV. PRIMARY METHOD OF EVALUATION AND SAMPLE ASSIGNMENTS

A. PRIMARY METHOD OF EVALUATION:

Substantial writing assignments

B. TYPICAL ASSIGNMENT USING PRIMARY METHOD OF EVALUATION:

Read a selection in the text from Aristotle and consider the following:

What types of inquiry does Aristotle consider in formulating his conclusions? Why is man a political animal? What is a political community? What makes one a citizen? In a four- to five-page essay, critically analyze these issues and integrate readings from other thinkers.

C. COLLEGE-LEVEL CRITICAL THINKING ASSIGNMENTS:

1. It has been argued by Rousseau that an individual finds fulfillment and freedom only as a member of the whole community. How does this version of liberty differ from those of John Locke or John Stuart Mill? Write a three- to five-page essay analyzing these divergent opinions and explain why you think one or the other has greater validity.
2. After closely reading the material in your text, write a three- to five-page essay on the advantages of a state based on the rule of privilege. Incorporate the arguments presented by a minimum of two of the philosophers studied. After explaining the positive aspects, critique your position by referring to a selection of relevant philosophers (your choice).
