

STUDENT LEARNING OUTCOME (SLO): Paragraphs should use basic rules of grammar, spelling, and punctuation so that the writer's ideas are clearly communicated.

DLA OBJECTIVE/PURPOSE: Student will be able to avoid errors in subject-verb agreement in written assignments.

TIME NEEDED TO COMPLETE: 30-45 minutes (You'll need to complete the independent activity IN THE WRITING CENTER, so be sure you've allotted enough time to do so.)

INSTRUCTIONS: Get DLA handout, look over directions, go to a work station (computer, desk) to complete the independent activity, and then sign up with a tutor to review the activity.

INDEPENDENT ACTIVITY (20-30 minutes):

- A. Review rules for Subject-Verb Agreement online and test out your skills by doing an online exercise:

Explanation and rules: <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/599/01/>

Practice Exercise: <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/exercises/5/13/34/>

OR

Explanation and rules: <http://wwwnew.towson.edu/ows/sub-verb.htm>

Practice Quiz: <http://www.towson.edu/ows/exercisesub-verb2.htm>

Practice Quiz: <http://www.towson.edu/ows/exercisesub-verb3.htm>

- B. Review the attached handout "Making Subjects and Verbs Agree" and take the online practice exercise (URL is given in the handout). Use the online practice exercise to identify which, if any, areas are still giving you trouble.
- C. Once you've identified your own trouble spots, locate the sections of the attached exercise "Correcting Errors in Subject-Verb Agreement" that deal with those trouble spots specifically. Complete only those sections.

REVIEW WITH TUTOR: (10-15 minutes)

- 1) Go over your answers to "Correcting Errors in Subject-Verb Agreement" with the tutor.
- 2) With assistance from the tutor, identify and review any of the subject-verb agreement trouble spots that might still be giving you problems.
- 3) If you have an essay from class with subject-verb agreement errors, identify which trouble spots they reflect, and correct them with help from the tutor. If you don't have an essay, write a correct sentence to illustrate each of your own trouble spots. In the sentence, give a fact about El Camino College, underline the subject once and the verb twice. Be prepared to explain to the tutor why your sentence is correct.

Example: There are two sections of English B at the same time on Tuesday.

The word There is never a subject. First I find the verb, which is are, and then I ask "who or what are?" The answer is sections. In this case, the subject sections comes after verb are as described in Trouble Spot#2.

MAKING SUBJECTS AND VERBS AGREE

DEFINITION of Subject-Verb Agreement: A verb and its subject must match in number. If the verb is plural, the subject must be plural. If the verb is singular, then the subject must be singular.

Singular = one

Plural = more than one

Incorrect: The boys is in my class.

The subject boys is plural (more than one ), but the verb is is singular (just one .

Correct: The boy is in my class.

The singular subject (just one ) matches with the singular verb (just one .

Correct: The boys are in my class.

The plural subject (more than one ) matches with the plural verb (more than one .

2 HELPFUL HINTS for locating the subject and the verb in a sentence:

1. In most English sentences, the subject comes before the verb.

John sat at the desk.

Van enrolled in a speech class.

Laura felt sick.

2. To find the subject of a sentence, first find the verb and then ask who or what does it.

- a. The verb is easier to spot because it's usually an action and it changes form to show tense (sit/sat, enroll/enrolled, feel/felt).

John sat at the desk.

What's the action? answer = sat (VERB)

Who or what sat? answer = John (SUBJECT)

- b. Verbs like is, am, was, were, are, and seems are called "linking verbs." They don't show action, but they do change form to show tense (is/was, seems/seemed). Linking verbs join the subject to a word that renames or describes it.

Sue is president of the club. “president” renames Sue (SUBJECT)

Devonne seemed unhappy at the news. “unhappy” describes Devonne (SUBJECT)

TROUBLE SPOTS:

1. The subject seems plural but is considered singular.

These words are always singular:

-ONE words 	-BODY words 	-THING words 	each
anyone	anybody	anything	either
everyone	everybody	everything	neither
someone	somebody	something
no one	nobody	nothing

  Everyone loves to get an “A” on a test.

  Nobody wants to tell Joe the bad news.

These words end in –s but are considered singular:

  An amount of money: A million dollars is a lot of cash.

  Words that end in –ics: Mathematics is my hardest subject.

  Words that have no ending other than –s: The news was on the television.

Words that refer to groups are usually considered singular because the members of the group act as one unit.

board class corporation faculty family jury senate team union

  The board routinely approves all of the president’s recommendations.

2. The subject comes after the verb. (Remember, to see if subjects and verbs agree, find the verb first and then ask “who or what does it?” to find the subject.)

v                    s

QUESTION: Where are my textbooks?

What is the verb? answer = are

Who or what are? answer = textbooks

v                    s

SENTENCE THAT STARTS WITH THERE OR HERE: There are fifteen questions on the quiz.

What is the verb? answer = are

Who or what are? answer = questions

 TIP: ~~There~~ and ~~Here~~ will NEVER BE SUBJECTS.

v                    s

SENTENCE THAT STARTS WITH A PREPOSITIONAL PHRASE: Around the corner comes the bus.

What is the verb? answer = comes

Who or what comes? answer = bus

 PREPOSITIONAL PHRASE

COMMON PREPOSITIONS:

about	because of	except	of	to above	before	for	off	toward across	behind	from	on	under after	below	in	out	until against	beside	inside	outside	up
along	between	into	over	upon
among	by	like	past	with around	down	near	since	within
at	during	next to	through	without

3. Words come between the subject and the verb.

 Each ~~of my friends~~ attends a different college.

 One ~~of my cousins~~ attends L A City College.

 The woman ~~who has five dogs and twelve cats~~ was evicted from her house.

Remember:

Each and One are ALWAYS singular.

4. The sentence has more than one subject.

“AND/OR” RULES:

a. AND: Subjects joined by and are plural and always take a plural verb.

  Diet and exercise are keys to good health.

b. OR: When subjects are joined by or, the verb agrees with the nearest subject.

Flowers or   candy makes a nice gift. BUT Candy or   flowers make a nice gift.

5. The same subject can be singular or plural depending on how it's used.

These words can be singular or plural depending on what word they refer to:

all                      any                      none                      some

SINGULAR if refer to something that's singular:

All of the milk is now on the floor. (All refers to milk, which is singular)

PLURAL if refer to something that's plural:

All of my friends are going to the basketball game. (All refers to friends, which is plural)

HINT: Ask yourself “All of what?” or “Some of what?” See if the answer is singular or plural.

6. The verb is a tricky form of BE (is, am, are), HAVE (has, have) or DO (does, do).

BE Verbs PRESENT TENSE (Happening Now)		BE Verbs PAST TENSE (Happening before Now)
Singular Subject 	Singular Verb 	Singular Subject 	Singular Verb
I	am	I	was
you	are	you	were
he/she/it	is	he/she/it	was
Plural Subject 	Plural Verb 	Plural Subject 	Plural Verb
we	are	we	were
you	are	you	were
they	are	they	were

HAVE Verbs PRESENT TENSE (Happening Now)
Singular Subject 	Singular Verb
I	have
you	have
he/she/it	has
Plural Subject 	Plural Verb
we	have
you	have
they	have

DO Verbs PRESENT TENSE (Happening Now)
Singular Subject 	Singular Verb
I	do
you	do
he/she/it	does
Plural Subject 	Plural Verb
we	do
you	do
they	do

TEST YOUR UNDERSTANDING

- Test your understanding of the rules by completing an online exercise:  http://www.proprofs.com/quiz-school/story.php?title=subjectverb-agreement-exercise\_3
- Use the exercise as a guide to let you know which—if any--of the trouble spots are still causing you problems. Then you can review only the items you don't know.
- Each item in the exercise will tell you which of the trouble spots it deals with. Circle the Trouble Spots associated with any of the items you missed (some items may have two trouble spots identified):

TROUBLE SPOT 1

TROUBLE SPOT 2

TROUBLE SPOT 3

TROUBLE SPOT 4

TROUBLE SPOT 5
