VI. Appendix

Robert's Rules of Order³

Guiding Principles

- All individuals have the right to participate in discussion if they wish, before anyone may speak a second time.
- Everyone has the right to know what is going on at all times. Only urgent matters may interrupt a speaker.
- Only one item (motion) can be discussed at a time.
- A motion is the topic under discussion (e.g., "I move that we add a coffee break to this meeting"). After being recognized by the chair of the committee, any member can introduce a motion when no other motion is on the table. A motion requires a second to be considered. If there is no second, the matter is not considered. Each motion must be disposed of (passed, defeated, tabled, referred to committee, or postponed indefinitely).

How to Do Things (Some Examples)

- If a committee member wants to bring up a new idea before the group: After recognition by the chair of the committee, present your motion. A second is required for the motion to go to the floor for discussion, or consideration.
- If a committee member wants to change some of the wording in a motion under discussion: After recognition by the chair of the committee, move to amend by adding words, striking words or striking and inserting words.
- If a committee member wants more time to study the proposal being discussed: "Move to postpone to a definite time or date."
- If a committee member thinks the committee has heard enough discussion: "Move to close the debate."
- If a committee member wants to postpone a motion until some later time: "Move to table the motion."
