- Regional Work-Based Learning Project: Career Services has embarked on the regional WBL project through the Los Angeles Regional Consortium. The purpose of this project is to establish a regional framework around Workbased learning. A common framework helps to establish agreed-upon procedures within the Los Angeles regional consortium LA-19 colleges, ensuring fair outcomes for students engaged in work-based learning. The framework will provide a foundation to support equity. Collecting accurate data is the initial step towards ensuring equitable work-based learning and is crucial for monitoring progress in expanding Work-Based Learning at El Camino College. Career Counselor, Sherece Jefferson, will be collaborating with faculty, IT, and institutional research on this project.
- Luskin Academy Presentation: On October 3, Career Services presented to 80 students from Alliance Renee & Meyer Luskin Academy High School. Career Counselors presented "How to choose a major" career workshop to 80 students from the senior class.

UNDOCU WEEK 2024

We welcome students, staff, and faculty to participate.

MONDAY
10/14

Arts with Resistance

Location: Social Justice Center (COMMS 204)

Time: 11am – 2pm

Canvas painting that is unique to your experience. Come de-stress and have a bite.

TUESDAY
10/15

Undocumented Students Navigating Nursing Careers

Location: Social Justice Center (COMMS 204)

Time: 12pm -1pm

Description: From applying and completing clinical hours to sitting for the NCLEX, Pre-Health Dreamers will discuss the common barriers undocumented nursing students face as they begin their nursing careers. They will also discuss options that exist when facing these barriers. Additionally, They will discuss income-generating options in the nursing field.

TUESDAY
10/15

Out of the Shadows: Lessons from DACA & The Dream Movement

Location: Via Zoom – Register here: <https://tinyurl.com/undocuweekpresentation>

Time: 3pm – 4:30pm

Description: This pivotal social movement was predominantly led by young high school and college-aged women and queer individuals; whose bravery and innovation redefined the American imagination of what it means to be undocumented. Through a combination of historical analysis and storytelling, this workshop will uncover why this often-forgotten history is vital for today's social rights movements. Attendees will learn how the strategies and successes of these young trailblazers can inform and inspire modern activism, ensuring a more inclusive and equitable future.

WEDNESDAY
10/16

Know Your Rights Presentation

Location: Social Justice Center (COMMS 204)

Time: 1:30pm – 2:30pm

Description: In the face of the hate speech dominating many national conversations around immigration, it is crucial that people know that the US Constitution provides certain rights for everyone, regardless of immigration status. Additionally, there are steps that immigrants can take to decrease their chances of detection, to protect themselves in the event of contact with Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), and to prepare if a loved one is placed in removal (deportation) proceedings. Presentation provided by Coalition for Humane Immigrant Rights, Los Angeles (CHIRLA).

THURSDAY
10/17

Undocu Alumni Panel

Location: Via zoom – Register here: <https://tinyurl.com/UndocuAlumni>

Time: 12pm – 1:30pm

Description: Join us virtually! Meet and learn from El Camino College Undocu Alumni. Learn about their experience at ELCO, transfer process, and much more!
